Career Planning

Years 9 and 10

In year 9, your child will be asked to choose which subjects to take in years 10 and 11. Our options videos can help:

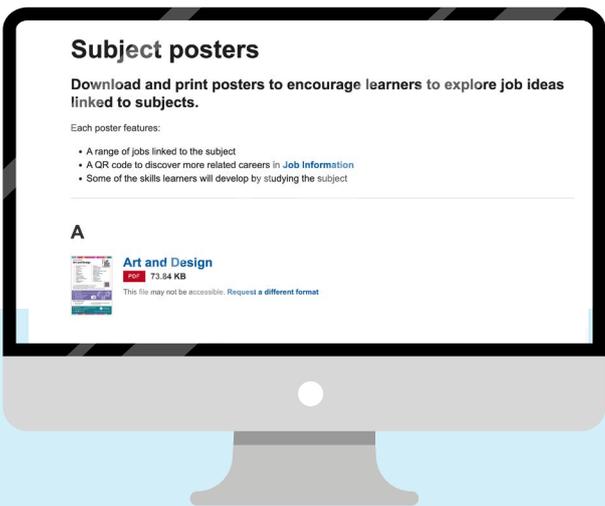

Year 9 Subject Options

How do I choose my subjects?

Our subject posters encourage learners to explore job ideas linked to subjects.

Subject Posters

In year 10 your child will be busy working towards their first qualifications. This is an excellent time to start thinking about next steps. What options are available after year 11? Work experience and working part time in year 10 is one of the best ways to understand what it's like to work in a job or industry.

Year 11

In year 11 your child should, by now, have been invited to a careers interview with their Careers Wales adviser. This will give them the opportunity to talk through their ideas and plan their next steps with an independent and impartial, professionally qualified, careers adviser who can provide insights into future job trends and the labour market. It is a good idea to speak to your child about their careers interview and support them with any agreed action points.

Year 12

In year 12, your child should start to think about their future options. The Easter term is the perfect time to do some research into different options and attend university open days. You can also use this time to research student finance options.

Top tip: Follow UCAS on social media for up-to-date information. The application deadline for most courses through UCAS is in January every year, but it is earlier for some courses such as medicine.

Year 13

Year 13 pupils will be leaving school this summer. By now your child will probably have a plan in place for the next step. Remember, if things don't go to plan, Careers Wales can help.

Real life stories

Kian, a 16-year-old pupil from Ystrad Mynach, struggled with deciding if he wanted to go to college or to do an apprenticeship. He was keen to do a course in plastering but also wanted to start working and gaining practical experience.

Support from Careers Wales

Lisa, a Careers Wales adviser at Kian's school, was there to help pupils think about their future career paths and explore different options. After their initial meeting, Kian asked to have one-on-one sessions with Lisa.

Kian explained: "Lisa sat down with me and helped me find a course in plastering at the local college. She also helped me apply."

With Lisa's help, Kian successfully applied for the plastering course at Coleg y Cymoedd. He managed to arrange his schedule to balance both college and an apprenticeship with a local company.

Kian said: "Lisa was really helpful. She showed me how to use the Careers Wales website, talked to me about different career options, and even showed me some leaflets and slideshows about college and apprenticeships.

"She made me feel more confident about my choices."

Working with employers

Valued Partner Awards

The Valued Partner Awards is a way for Careers Wales to recognise and thank the businesses that work with us.

Every year, we celebrate the work employers have done to help schools and young people to engage with the world of work,

Partnership between businesses and schools provide young people with inspiration and motivation. Valuable work-related knowledge and experiences help young people link what they learn in school and the world of work.

The 2025 awards took place in January at the Senedd. 36 nominated businesses attended. Nine winners were announced on the day by our host, journalist Sian Lloyd.

Jack Sargeant, Minister for Culture, Skills and Social Partnership attended and said:

"This recognition highlights the dedication and impact Welsh businesses have in shaping the futures of young people.

"Congratulations to all winners and nominees for their commitment to empowering the next generation with skills, confidence and invaluable career experiences. Your efforts are inspiring!"

You can read more about the awards and the winners on the Valued Partner Awards page on our website.

CareersCraft

CareersCraft is a Minecraft world that features Welsh landmarks. It is designed to inspire and motivate school children aged 8 to 13. Each landmark connects to an Area of Learning within the Curriculum for Wales or a specific career sector.

Young people can explore different landmarks and complete challenges in the game. This encourages them to think about their own skills, strengths and interests which will help them with their career ideas.

Bluestone, located near Narberth, is a new addition to the seven landmarks already within the CareersCraft world. To celebrate the release of the new landmark, Careers Wales hosted a launch event at the Bluestone resort with pupils from Templeton Community Primary School.

Nikki Lawrence, Chief Executive at Careers Wales, said: "It has been a pleasure to work in partnership with our colleagues at Bluestone and Visit Wales and launch the exciting new Bluestone landmark within CareersCraft.

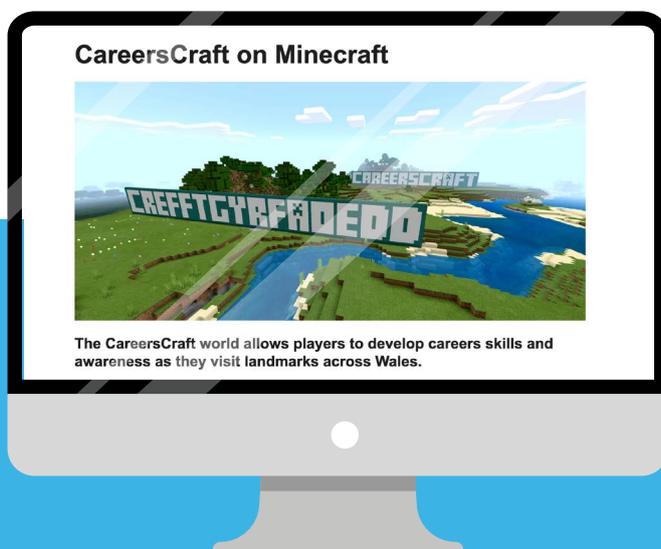

"Bluestone is an iconic holiday resort. This new landmark enables players to explore the vibrant hospitality industry and discover the opportunities within this sector in Wales.

"It's fantastic to see local school pupils exploring the new features of CareersCraft, developing their careers knowledge and expanding their horizons, all whilst in the beautiful setting of Bluestone itself."

CareersCraft is available to all pupils in schools across the country through Minecraft Education Edition. You can find all the details on our website.
